The President and His Accusers.

About the first of March the House of Representatives adopted a resolution appointing a committee to inquire into cer-tain charges of corruption against the President and other government officials. It was introduced by Mr. Covode, of Pennsylvania, and was aimed directly at Mr. Buchanan. The charge was of the most indefinite character. No particular it never debilitates the patient like other remedie its a pleasant, effective and safe remedy for children act or instance was specified. Indeed, it was not alleged that there had been any act or instance was specified. Indeed, it was not alleged that there had been any corruption at all, but the committee were instructed merely to inquire if there had been, the resolution not asserting it.—

Mr. Covode was appointed chairman of the committee.

Agently, it stands at the head of Age Cures.

Dr. If C. Daniels, Naperville, III, Sept. 4, 1858, says: "Your Ague Balesin gives the best satisfaction of any Ague malleline that has ever been in the country. It cures in every case, so far as I have country. It cures in every case, so far as I have country. It cures in every case, so far as I have country. It cures in every case, so far as I have country. The resolution being wholly of the character of an impeachment, the President has deemed it his duty to notice it, and accordingly sent in a communication to the House on Thursday, in which he not only denies the authority of the committee to sit as an impeaching body, but complains very justly that the House sel pabcomplains very justry

The whole object of the black republicans is very apparent. Not one of them believes or pretends to believe in the charges dimly shadowed forth in their resolution, which they dare not openly 9 specify. They have not the remotest expectation of proving anything against President Buchanan. But they do expeet to make some capital for the ensuing campaign, of which, it must be confessed,
